Greek Gods

1. Myths are stories created to explain why things are as they are. The ancient Greeks and Romans created myths to explain natural phenomena.
2. Myths are stories that are oral traditions, passed down through generations. They are not meant to be taken literally.
3. Myths are stories that are used to teach moral lessons and values. They are not meant to be taken literally.
4. Myths are stories that are used to explain the origins of things. They are not meant to be taken literally.

What is a Myth?

1. Myths are stories created to explain why things are as they are. The ancient Greeks and Romans created myths to explain natural phenomena.
2. Myths are stories that are oral traditions, passed down through generations. They are not meant to be taken literally.
3. Myths are stories that are used to teach moral lessons and values. They are not meant to be taken literally.
4. Myths are stories that are used to explain the origins of things. They are not meant to be taken literally.

Value

1. Myths are stories created to explain why things are as they are. The ancient Greeks and Romans created myths to explain natural phenomena.
2. Myths are stories that are oral traditions, passed down through generations. They are not meant to be taken literally.
3. Myths are stories that are used to teach moral lessons and values. They are not meant to be taken literally.
4. Myths are stories that are used to explain the origins of things. They are not meant to be taken literally.

Grain, horses, fire, speech, cross, grow, heaven, beyond, Pluton, cow, lightning, and the worst punishment.

Washington Ben Franklin, and Abe Lincoln and "The little engine that could."